PRESIDENT J. P. GARRICK Morris College - Sumter, S. C.

Dedication

It is to you, Reverend J. P. Garrick, with our firm belief in your sincerity, loyalty and ability, that we, the classes of Nineteen Hundred Forty-One dedicate the third volume of the Morrisite. May your faith continue to encourage us, your hope uphold us, and your charity inspire us.

Foreword

A TRUE MORRISITE BELIEVES THAT:

If one works at that which is before him, following right reason seriously, vigorously, calmly, without allowing anything to distract him, but keeping his divine part sure, if he should be bound to give it back immediately, if he holds to this expecting nothing, fearing nothing, but satisfied with his present activity according to nature, and with truth in every word and sound which he utters, he will live happy and attain a reasonable portion of success. And there is no man who is able to prevent this.

The Stylus Club is a literary organization which holds very interesting informal weekly meetings on the campus. Recent books are read, reviewed and discussed. A better understanding of current trends in literature is brought about by these informal discussions.

This group strives to create a greater appreciation for creative writing. Not only do the members of the Stylus Club study and compare the style of well known writers, but they also compose original poems, essays and short stories. The Stylus Club is one of the most constructive organizations on the campus.

La Cercle Français was organized February

La Cercle Francais was organized February 19, 1941, under the supervision of Miss Hazel Frenche Johnson French instructor. So great was the response from the call for members that the membership had to be limited to 50 persons.

The main objective of the club is to acquire a speaking knowledge of French. In working toward this goal the meetings are conducted almost entirely in French. Since organizing "La Cercle Francais" has made splendid progress, having sponsored several entertainments and a banquet for the members and their guests

From all appearances, particularly in the enthusiasm shown by members, this club promises to be a leader in CULTURE and INTELLECT.
